progressing & linking moves

Heelwork To Music, is a sport for those who love dogs and music. The dog and handler team choreograph their performances to a variety of music, illustrating their skills and joyful relationship. Every movement is accomplished through the subtle use of verbal cues and body language. The dog and handler work in unison to their chosen piece of music, with the dogs performing some incredibly complex manoeuvres. The result of this fabulous new sport is a balanced partnership between dog and handler and a rapport that many dog owners would love to achieve.

You will need to bring with you:

Lots of treats as rewards for your dogs, please, no crumbly, slippery or soggy food, hard cheese or hot dog sausages are ideal, toys, a notebook will be useful, your dog, yourself and lots of energy!

Top Lodge Dancing Dogs is a group of three of the top handlers in Europe who have won more Advanced Classes in competition than any other group. They have travelled the country with their 8 dogs performing at many events and have also become recognised internationally as Judges, including at Crufts and presented their excellent training seminars both at home and abroad. Throughout their training days, Kath Hardman, Karen Sykes and Lesley Neville make you think very hard about what you are aiming for at all levels from absolute beginner to seasoned competitors, and help to put it across to dogs in a fun way. They have a high level contact with each handler, even the raw beginner is made to feel very special.
